LEARNER'S COPY

The governor was to visit Rahisi primary school to donate computers. Teacher Katana gave Tom of Grade 5 a poem to recite on the big day.

"Tom, this poem will take you two days to practise," the teacher said, "read it quietly first."

Tom read the poem.

"Teacher, this poem is quite long. I need at least four days to practise it."

"Are you sure?"

"Yes," Tom answered.

"Good. Now read the poem aloud."

The teacher listened as Tom read the poem. "That word should be pronounced as 'Perfect' not 'Prefect'. But I am happy with the way you read the poem."

Tom practiced every morning before lessons began.

On the day of the governors visit, Tom presented the poem so well. Everybody clapped excitedly. The governor gave Tom a present.
